GERMAN FLEET IS SUNK BY HUNS

CHAOS IN HUN GOV'T MAY HOLD UP ACTION

Overthrow Of Ministry May Place Germany In Helpless Position

TIME LIMIT MONDAY

President Ebert Fails In Effort To Form A New Cabinet To Sign

PARIS, June 21—The overthrow of the Scheidemann ministry has created such political chaos in Germany that it is believed doubtful here tonight whether the Germans will be able to sign the peace treaty before the time limit expires at 7:09 o'clock Monday night.

Dispatches from Weimar tonight agreed that acceptance of the terms awaits only the formation of a new government, but factional differences apparently have made this difficult. Advices received by the American peace commission say that the national assembly stand 275 to 146 in favor of signing.

Weimar, June 21.—German political leaders suddenly decided tonight to withdraw the note to the allies in which further concessions were demanded.

No reason for this action was advanced and the situation remains confused. From the maze of conflicting incidents, however, the general impression prevailed that the treaty would be signed.

President Ebert failed in his efforts to form a new cabinet today owing to his inability to obtain support of a majority of the political leaders here.

The conference of political chiefs, in which the attempt to organize a new ministry was made, adjourned after a long session.

Adjournment was forced by refusal of the Democrats to join in the new government unless certain further concessions were made by the allies. As a result of this deadlock, Ebert immediately dispatched a note to the allies, notifying them he was unable to form a government making the following demands:

1—Fixation of a flat sum of $25,000,000,000 for indemnities.

2—Withdrawal of the allied demand for surrender of the former kaiser.

3—Immediate admission of Germany to the league of nations.

The note will be delivered to the allies in Versailles by Secretary von Haniel of the German peace delegation.

If the allies reply to the note is favorable it is regarded as likely the democrats will join in forming a new cabinet favorable to acceptance of the terms. Support of the Democrats apparently would make this easily accomplished.

In the event of an unfavorable reply it was thot Ebert would make another effort to form a cabinet without the Democrats.

308 ENGINEERS ON WAY ACROSS

It has been learned by a number of local people who have friends and relatives in the 308th engineers, that that regiment would arrive in the United States from France about June 25th. The regiment was scheduled to leave France Saturday.

Corporal Arthur D. Howe, son of Mr. and Mrs. George B Howe, Cambridge-st, is with the engineers. Paul Rice also of Coshocton is with them. There are a number of other local men who are with the same regiment, and who will undoubtedly come with them, but their names were not available Saturday.

Demobilization will take place at Camp Sherman, from which place they were sent overseas, just one year ago. This regiment distinguished itself for splendid service on the Aisne river and Meuse-Argonne offensive. This regiment is one of the last two organizations to return to Camp Sherman for demobilization.

KEEPING THE FAITH

(By The Rev. C. H. Hood)

"I have kept the faith."—2 Tim. 4:7

What does Paul mean when he says "I have kept the faith?" I think it is clear that he does not mean a set of doctrines, a formal theology, or a credal pronouncement.

Paul might have given mental assent to a dozen doctrines of Christianity and not lost so much as a night's sleep, much less a drop of blood in behalf of the Christian religion.

The faith Paul kept was not a set of doctrines but a life; not a theology but a spirit; not a ceremony but a pledge, a vow, a declaration. "I have kept the faith."

A good many so called Christians are more interested in the faith keeping them than they are in keeping the faith. Somehow we reason differently when we come to the realm of spiritual things.

No student thinks that merely matriculating in college will provide his educaton. No man, when he opens a store, or shop, or bank considers that the mere opening of the place is sufficient. He knows it is not sufficient. His personality must be invested A man's business is not an incident in his life but life itself.

Paul kept the fath by giving himself in magnificent ministry to mankind. There is no other way to keep the faith. A man can't enclose his faith in a Sunday suit, or fence it in with ordinances, nor build a wall of Biblical texts about it and say, "I have it here." We cannot keep the faith by doing that. I mean to say that a man can keep the faith only by going on. He compromises the faith by standing still! He betrays the faith by going back.

The keepers of the faith are the world's saviors. Humanity has ever been helped in the march to the higher planes by men who have kept the faith—political, commercial and religious; men who have cherished high and noble ideals and cherished them to the end. This was the way Paul kept the faith; and every great soul, whether in the limelight of publicity or in the obscurity of homely toil, has kept the faith by living the life and embodying the principle of fidelity to ideals hard to achieve and harder still to keep.

LABOR ORGANIZER SAYS STRIKING WORKMEN ARE LAW ABIDING CITIZENS

Criticises County Official And Contractor For Evading Eight Hour Law On Road Jobs—Says Bolshevism Charge Is Subterfuge Of Employers Who Exploit Labor

James McCormick, Lafayette-rd, organizer of coal miners and a man prominent in mining circles of Coshocton and surrounding counties, in a statement concerning the situation recently created on the Coshocton-West Lafayette-rd by striking laborers took exceptions Saturday to the statement made by County Surveyor Ross Hamilton that the agitator was a bolshevik. "Today if a man has even liberal, but yet not radical ideas about the social and economic conditions of society, he is bound to be called a bolshevik by some one or other," McCormick, declared

"A man in the official position of Mr. Hamilton should not countenance the effort of any contractor engaged in public work who tries to work men

INTERNED ARMADA IS DESTROYED BY CREWS SATURDAY

ONLY ONE OF 73 SHIPS SURRENDERED AND INTERNED AT SCARPA FLOW KNOWN TO BE STILL AFLOAT SAYS ADMIRALTY

British Guns Play On Life Boats Of Fleeing German Crews When Orders To Halt Are Ignored—War Ships Fly Imperial Ensign When Sacrifice Is Made By German Sailors Under Nose Of British Guarding Fleet.

LONDON, June 21. — All the German battleships and cruisers interned at Scarpa Flow, Scotland were sunk by their crews today except the dreadnaught Baden, which is still afloat, according to a statement issued tonight by the British admiralty.

Five light cruisers were sunk and three beached, 18 destroyers were beached and the rest sunk, the admiralty statement said.

The statement adds: "The German rear admiral and most of the German sailors which comprised the skeleton crews left aboard the interned vessels are in custody aboard our ships. Some of the German boats from the ships refused to halt when ordered to do so, and were fired upon, resulting in the killing or wounding of small numbers of German sailors."

In accordance with the terms of the armistice the ships were interned with skeleton crews aboard and without British guards.

The admiralty did not state specifically how many ships were sunk, but at the time of the internment it was said officially that nine dreadnaughts, five battle cruisers, seven light cruisers and 50 destroyers comprised the German fleet. Tonight's official statement, however, mentioned eight light cruisers and referred to the dreadnaught Baden, which was not included in the original list.

Providing the Baden and the one unknown light cruiser are the only additions to the original list and that all the ships originally interned are still at Scarpa Flow, the admiralty statement would indicate that the German uprising resulted in the destruction of nine dreadnaughts, five battle cruisers, five light cruisers, and 32 destroyers by sinking, and three light cruisers and 18 destroyers by beaching. Only one dreadnaught remains afloat.

SURVEYOR DISCLAIMS STATEMENT

"The published statement purporting to be quotations from a conversation with a reporter in my office concerning the labor trouble on the West Lafayette road job is unfortunately contrary to the impression I meant to convey, and is so badly distorted that neither myself nor those with me in the office at the time would recognize it," said Surveyor Ross Hamilton Saturday night in absolving himself from responsibility for the statement that the striking workers' attitude savored of bolshevism.

"I positively authorized no such statement, and would consider such a statement indiscreet, not to say absolutely foolhardy," he continued "I have no fuss with labor and employ none who are affected by this eight hour law, which I consider a very good thing for employer, employe and the state I can find no fault with the reporter, who acted in good faith, but unfortunately he has misquoted me, perhaps not intentionally, but to the serious embarrassment of myself in my official capacity I feel that I owe none an apology since I have hereby publicly disclaimed authorship of the printed statements reflecting upon the strikers"

GOVERNOR COX BALKS ATTEMPT OF POLITICIANS TO SHIFT BLAME

Issues Statement Laying Blame for Prize Fight Upon Legislature

DAYTON, O, June 21—With reference to the situation affecting the Willard-Dempsey contest, Governor Cox today made the following statement.

"The propaganda begun a short time ago under political auspices is based upon a deliberate attempt to deceive the public that it would seem proper for me to give the facts.

"Under the laws of this state, and their interpretation by the courts, boxing contests are legalized under direction of local municipal authorities Several attempts within the past few weeks were made in the Ohio legislature to change existing statute on the subject, but without avail Failing in this, one branch of the legislature passed a resolution requesting me to interfere with the contest In other words, after the assembly itself failed to give me legal authority, one branch of it urged me to proceed without right. Dictatorship has not even prospered in Russia, and the executive policy of Ohio will be within the laws of the commonwealth so long as I am governor Boxing contests are conducted in at least a dozen of our largest cities During the winter they were held within a square of the legislative halls in Columbus and were attended in goodly numbers by all members of the legislature If the law is changed, giving me the right of interference, it will be exercised, but I shall not meet hypocrisy with usurpation of power."

LONDON, June 21—"Certain of the interned German ships in Scapa Flow have been sunk and abandoned by their crews," the British admiralty officially announced this evening.

First intimation of the sinking of the German ships was contained in an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from its correspondent in northern Scotland, which stated they had been sunk by their German crews and had gone down with the imperial ensign flying at their mastheads, where the crews had raised them

Practically the entire German fleet was taken to Scapa Flow for internment after its surrender to the allies, following the signing of the armistice. A small portion of the crew of each vessel was understood to have been maintained aboard to keep the craft in repair.

The above dispatch did not state how many of the ships were sunk, nor the manner of their sinking

The German ships interned in Scapa Flow included the following:

Dreadnaughts—Friedrich Der Grosse, 24,113 tons; Koenig Albert, 24,113 tons; Kaiser [illegible] tons; Kron Prinz Wilhelm 27,000 tons, Kaiserin, 24,113 tons; Bayern [illegible] tons; Mark Graf 25,293 tons, Prinz Regent Luitpold, 24,113 tons, Grosser Kurfuerst, 25,293 tons.

Battle cruisers—Seydlitz, 25,000 tons; Derflinger 28,000 tons; Hindenburg 27,000 tons; Moltke 23 000 tons; Von Der Tann 15,000 tons

Light cruisers—Seven, of about 4,500 tons each Destroyers—fifty averaging 600 tons each

The spectacular surrender of the German fleet occurred off the Firth of Forth the morning of November 21, 1918

Scapa Flow is a landlocked harbor surrounded by various islands of the Orkney group. It is slightly less than 200 miles north of Edinburgh.

FIFTH AVENUE NOW CLAIMS A THOUGHT

Rivalry Between Great Highways—Stripping Away City's War Trappings—Gotham Solons After Jay Walkers—The Cave Man and the Taxi Cab

NEW YORK, June 21.—While the city is giving thot to Broadway, Fifth-av, "the most international and most democratic street in the world"—as the Fifth Avenue Association styles it—is by no means being forgotten. In fact, certain dangers threatening the avenue's development and beauty are now under close scrutiny of the streets' friends. The most serious peril is declared to be the continued growth of tall apartment houses above the Fifty-Ninth-st section. The Fifth-Avenue Association has been engaged for some time in a fight against this, and as a result the committee on city plans and improvements of the board of estimate is considering a petition presented to the board by the association to put a ban on the further construction of apartment houses in the section concerned. Another thing under discussion is the removal of the Arch of Jewels and the supplementary decorations at Fifty-Ninth-st and Fifth-av, which played its part at many a patriotic demonstration during the war and is now considered no longer a thing of use or beauty.

Already one of Fifth-av's most conspicious war trappings is being removed. The two and one-half miles of reviewing stands built within six weeks' time early in the year are being taken down. The stretch between the Metropolitan museum and 106th-st once more has taken on its former appearance and the other parts between Fifty Ninth and 106th sts will be as of old within the next few weeks. Millions of feet of lumber were used and, according to the terms agreed upon, the wood will go back to the contractor who put up the stands and maintained them at the contract price to the city of $74,660. Now let them demolish the sophomore den effect in front of the public library and the fantastic Victory Arch in Madison sq and our famous avenue will once more be fairly established on a peace basis.

City magistrates may be called upon to inflict fines of $10, or so upon pedestrians guilty of reckless walking or other violations of the police traffic regulations.

A proposed ordinance, sponsored by the police department, is before the board of aldermen, which would give the police absolute control of pedestrians as well as vehicular traffic. It would make it a misdemeanor for anybody afoot to cross a street elsewhere than at a corner crossing, except in blocks 400 feet or more in length when certain other pedestrian crossings would be designated officially.

The pedestrian who failed to obey the signal of a traffic policeman likewise would find himself an offender against the law of the land and the board of aldermen and the majesty of the police department. Other and lesser cities have long since invented the crime of "jay walking" and penalized it. Nowhere is it more needed than here.

Shattering glass, a feminine call for help, the whirring of a motor—and Flatbush had its first glimpse of a genuine cave man wooing, plus all the trimmings that might be required to make it fit into Brooklyn surroundings.

Mrs. Helen C. Waterman, a widow of 21, was preparing to retire shortly before midnight when something unusual occurred before the door of her home. Mrs. Waterman had reached the stage where her costume consisted of a filmy white garment and flowing hair, when there was a crash at the front window and the form of a man crashed thru it. Mrs. Waterman was given her choice of going willingly with her suitor or well, just going.

At any rate she soon found herself in the waiting taxicab, having been carried thru the door instead of the open window.

But alas for cave man stuff in Brooklyn neighbors notified the police and next morning the atavistic gentleman was found in his apartment still arguing violently with his unsubdued captive. He was taken before a magistrate where he was placed under bonds totaling $2500 on charges of abduction, burglary and assault, inasmuch as modern New York state courts do not recognize as a crime the offense of playing cave man.

In fact there seem to be signs of an epidemic of cave man stuff here now. "I love my wife devotedly," declared James Walker, of 511 West 48th-st, when arraigned in the west side police court accused of wife-beating. "Judge, you can't realize how I love that woman! I love her so I have to beat her up, my love just boils over."

Mrs. Walker, a frail woman, whose battered features and painful gait gave proof of her husband's boiling devotion, testified that his affection began to steam and bubble at noon that day and did not subside until he had blackened both her eyes, knocked her down in the street and kicked her.

WILL HELP MASTER AIR

LONDON, June 21.—Secret experiments are being carried out near London with a view to perfecting an invention which, it is claimed will be the greatest step yet made towards the complete mastery of the air with a heavier-than-air machine.

This is a "helicopter" aeroplane, capable of rising and descending vertically without "getting its nose up," and able to hover in the air. All the flying machines of the novelists have been able to rise vertically, but so far this has not been possible in practical aviation. The British Air Ministry is directing the tests.

looks like a waste money to the boy who sees the Soda sign—10c a glass.

The Price of $10. for a well made boys' suit very often looks the same to parents who see signs reading $2. to $3. less. But the chances for getting caught are too many.

A boys' suit that's made down to a price rather than up to a purpose never did pay a family budget to bother with.

We've seen enough to know that we wouldn't handle them for a farm.

SALOON WON'T DIE WITH OLD JOHN B.

Salvation Army Will Keep Brass Rail and Bar for Kickless Drink Period

NEW YORK, June 21.—Prohibition or no prohibition, the little old brass rail, the mahogany bar and the foaming beer spigot is going to stick. Firmly convinced of the beneficial psychology of the brassy rail, the Salvation Army has so decreed.

The "waterfront" saloon is too valuable a socializing and democratizing asset to be allowed to perish with John Barleycorn, slum workers believe. The atmosphere of the saloon, deodorized of all its stench, alone will justify the continued existence of the saloon, they say.

"You can't take something away from a man without giving him something in return," Brigadier James Welte, purchasing agent for the Salvation Army during the war, said today. "Deprive the 'floaters' and saloon frequenters of a place to congregate and something equally as undesirable as the saloon will take its place.

"The Salvation Army does not intend to eliminate the saloon. It aims to reform it—make it a power for decency and cleanliness rather than a demoralizing influence in the community."

Already Salvation Army officials in New York have secured options on saloon locations in preparation for the day when prohibition goes into effect. But not for a single day will these places close their doors. The same old mahogany bar, the same brass rail and the same bartenders—in many instances—will remain. Only the "kick" in the drinks will disappear.

New York's pioneer "soft drink" bar located in the heart of Broadway's tenderloin, just off Broadway near Forty-seventh st, where hearts are supposed to be light and lights are bright [illegible] water, has proved the theory of its founders. Two [illegible] ago Tango Lizards, Folly [illegible] and Broadway habitues draped themselves across the hardwood bar of the Victoria Hotel. From noon 'til early morn the place was crowded.

Today the place still is crowded, but the men who lounge with hobnailed boot upon the rail are bronzed, weatherbeaten veterans of the A. E. F. or Uncle Sam's navy. And the women, not the delicately tinted, hand painted folly favorites but clear-eyed Salvation Army lassies, war workers and returned nurses. And before the war many that now call for a "grape fizz" had called for a gin rickey or a Scotch straight.

"It's the psychology of the brass rail," quoth Tony the bartender, who for a decade has mixed refreshing potations here. "Put a glass in a man's hand and he instinctively fishes around with his foot for the rail. Makes no difference whether he is drinking Scotch or soda; with his hoof comfortably fixed he will talk as long as anyone listens to him—just like in the olden days. Gradually he eases himself down until his chin gets in his hand and his elbow on the table or bar—and he's anchored until closing time."

In the river-front saloon, where the Bowery Bum formerly got a glass of beer and a sandwich for a nickel, the Salvation Army intends to have the same old bartender with his cheery "Howdy, Mike! Hello Bill!" on the job. That is, if he wants to stay, and many have said they would. But light drinks and doughnuts will replace the hard drinks. The stove and smoke and atmosphere will still be there," Welte declared.

"And we don't intend to feed him religion either. Saloons and religion don't synchronize. If we can maintain the saloon as a place where a man can drop in, get a bite to eat and warm himself, and incidentally eliminate all the demoralizing influences that surrounded the old rum house, we believe it will be worth while," Welte added.

Salvation Army lassies—veterans also of the A. E. F., will capitalize their immense popularity among the returning doughboys to assist make the saloon an attractive place for the "down and outer."

NEW THOTS

Every on knows that in the spring the trees come out with new leaves, the plants with new flowers, the ground with fresh, green, live grass.

And in the fall they shed their raiment. The leaves wither and lose their colors. They fall to the ground and are burned or allowed to decay and assist in fertilizing the earth.

Nature sets humanity a beautiful example. What a wonderful world this would be if its inhabitants would cast off their old, worn thots and worries and meanness, and come out once a year, at least, with new, bright, clean thots.

Many of us are too "set" in our ways. We are thinking the same thots that our great-grandfathers did. We refuse to be affected by the changes in the world, we reject modern ideas, we refuse to believe the indisputable evidences of science and religion that the world is always changing.

We replace the "one horse chaise" with an automobile; we discard the candle for electric lights; the family well with its pump gives way to the pipe and faucet; we use electric power on the farm in place of oxen.

But we will not change our minds. We travel along in the same old trail that our forefathers blazed. We object to leaving the old corduroy road for the smooth asphalt. We bump and thump along at five miles an hour when we could be going at the rate of sixty.

And while we lag and fight for "principles" which are long dead the procession goes on ahead of us.

The man who says "we did this and that when I was a boy and it is good enough for me" is going backwards; he is not even standing still.

For if we don't go forward we go back. Put on your spurs and get into line. Prod your brain and make it receptive to modern ways and ideas.

Shed the leaves of antiquity, the plumage of the antediluvian periods; get rid of the thots of the Stone Age and put on the armor of modernism.

FAME.

A poet has said:

> "Lo, while you sleep
> Time follows on your track
> with nimble toes;
> And when you wake
> You bear a name that everybody knows."

That is one way of acquiring fame. Not, however, as a rule, lasting fame. Some so-called fame is nothing more than notoriety.

Steve Brodie jumped from the the Brooklyn bridge and was not killed and the next day his name was on the front page of every newspaper in the United States.

That was notoriety, for Brodie had done nothing that entitled him to fame. He showed that when he followed up his daredevil feat by opening a Bowery saloon.

Fame must rest on something more substantial than jumping from a high building or bridge, or defeating a man in a prize fight. Real fame is the result of years of hard labor, devoted toward the end of enriching the human race.

Such men as Edison, who have given great electrical inventions to the world, or Luther Burbank, the plant wizard, are entitled to fame. Not only their names but their deeds will live long after they have left their earthly home for the tomb.

Poets, authors, painters and musicians who have developed in their line something extraordinary may be termed famous. Fame is not God-given; the seed may be there but to achieve fame long years of hard work are essential.

If one could be born to fame the incentive to work, to accomplish, would be lost. We would never have had the railroad, the steamboat, the electric light, the aeroplane if fame were handed out without price.

The sons of rich men are either well known or notorious, according to the lives they live, because of the immense wealth to which they are born, but few are famous. Fame generally comes to the poor in pocket and spirit to whom the achievement of their end means bread and butter as well as a niche in the public heart.

All cannot be famous, but everyone can have, if he wills, some definite object in view, some goal in sight, to reach which he willingly climbs over jagged rocks and steep places, receiving his reward in the knowledge his work has been well done.

LONGFACES.

In an address recently a noted Brooklyn scientist made the statement that "unless Americans change their ways in another century we will be a nation of longfaces, with laughter a lost accomplishment."

Note the gentleman classified laughter as an accomplishment. In which he was absolutely correct. Few are born with no laughter in their souls. If merriment does not come from within it does not ring true.

The hollow cackle which is misnamed laughter is only a shallow mockery of the real thing.

True laughter comes from the very seat of life and is reflected in the eyes, the facial expression, the health and temper; if we truly laugh we are good citizens, conveying freely to our fellowmen the most priceless healing balm in the world.

If one will observe closely as he goes and lives he will soon agree with the scientist. Laughter is becoming a rare bit in American life. We are too serious. We do not take sufficient time for the hearty laugh which accompanies wholesome pleasure.

Some people deport themselves as tho they believed a hearty laugh would insure their utter condemnation here and hereafter. They act as if laughter is sin. They make people feel that life is nothing but seriousness. That every step from the cradle to the grave must be accompanied with a long and serious face.

A bad habit, contagious, and fast sinking its tentacles into the civic and social life of our country is the disease of longfacedness. If you must be serious part of the day, devote a portion of the 24 hours to some pleasure that will cause you to laugh. It will help in the serious moments, which after a while appear less serious and therefore more easy to overcome.

Memory of a laugh you had last night will help you in the perplexing business hours of today. Prospects of a hearty laugh due tonight will make the day's work much lighter.

Don't be afraid that you will be punished hereafter if you laugh here. None but the selfish and fanatical attempt to strangle laughter and no law or warrant in Biblical lore or human law sustains their action. Don't be afraid of eternal damnation because you laugh. Don't fear your face will crack because you stretch it from ear to ear.

It is better to roar, scream, double up, and stretch your laugh muscles than to go around with a long face that surrounds your whole being with a cloud and makes those compelled to associate with you feel that Old Nick himself approaches.

WILL TRY CHANNEL SWIM FOR 21st TIME

LONDON, June 21.—Jabez Wolffe is preparing to make his twenty-first attempt to swim the Channel and hopes to make a start early July. "I am going to take a new course," declared Wolffe, "starting from Dungeness and making for the south side of Cape Grisnez. During June my training program will be: swim five miles, walk five miles, bicycle five miles, and row the same distance."

So far the only successful Channel swimmers have been Captain Matthew Webb, who swam from Dover to Calais in 1875, and Thomas William Burgess, who accomplished the same feat in 1911.

NEGROES CELEBRATE.

CLEVELAND, O., June 21.—Mayor Davis and Paul L. Feiss, president of the Cleveland chamber of commerce, were to deliver welcoming addresses at the tenth anniversary conference of colored people which opened here today.

At the conference it is expected that announcement of membership exceeding 100,000 thruout the United States will be made.

The opening mass meeting tomorrow will be addressed by Emmett J. Scott, special assistant to the secretary of war.

A feature of the conference is the presence of wounded negro soldiers who will receive medals and decorations.

"A Lot of Questions"

Please give information to the following questions:

When to cut oats for hay?

When to cut alfalfa for hay?

How can red top or iron weed be killed?

How can briers or black berry bushes be killed?

How would sow rye as a cover crop in corn?

How can we dispose of a good wheat crop for seed, if conditions are right?

Very truly yours,
A. E. M., Fresno, O.

Oats should be cut for hay soon after the bloom has fallen, before the oats is developed very much. In no case should they be allowed to go out of the early milk stage, before they are cut for hay.

Alfalfa should be cut for hay when the shoots around the crown have started, and are as long as possible, to not be cut off by the mowing machine, if these shoots are cut off by the mowing machine the alfalfa stand is somewhat injured, or if the alfalfa has been cut before the shoots have started at the crown, it is damaged, and the immediate crop very much reduced.

Red top, used in the correct sense is a very good grass, but I presume that in the sense used in your letter you refer to the iron weed. Iron weed usually grows on wet soil, and it is likely that soil producing large amount of this weed is wet. Draining will help very remarkably, but a hoed crop is almost necessary to thoroly kill them out, and this will not be effective unless the wet land is drained. Cutting them twice a year will help.

There are certain days on which it is claimed that certain plants such as blackberry bushes will be killed, if cut. These days are the latter days in June and the first days in September. Others claim if they are cut while frozen they will be killed, but the best control that we know of is frequent cutting, and improvement of the pasture, the improvement of the pasture being more important, than anything else, because, if the blue grass is as thick as it should be, there will not be any room for the briers.

Rye demands cool weather for the best success, hence, if it is sown at the last working of the corn it will not do as well as it should, because of the hot weather during this part of the year, however, if the corn is cultivated very late, conditions may be very good to sow, at the last working. The best thing to do is to sow more than one thing as a cover crop, as a failure in one may be a success in the other. I would sow a mixture of vetch and crimson clover at the last working and supplement this with the amount of rye needed, after the corn is cut, to make a good stand. Turnips and rape may be added to the above, as they will bring the fertility to the surface.

The good crop of wheat you speak of should be easily disposed of among your neighbors, because any variety that is free from rye, weed seeds and other material, one should have no trouble in disposing of, at seed prices.

Control of Plant Lice

Both the pink and green aphids or plant lice which did so much damage during last year are now appearing in various parts of Coshocton-co in large numbers. These lice are darkish green to pink in color, very small and are often found on the stems and on the under side of the leaves. They are attacking potatoes, tomatoes and other garden crops, field crops, flowers and shrubbery. They cause the leaves to dry up and curl. The best material to control these insects is Black Leaf 40, Nicotine Sulphate or other nicotine sprays. This material may be obtained at seed, drug and hardware stores. A teaspoon full to a gallon of water is the proper dilution. If the lice appear in considerable numbers, the spray should be repeated several times, at intervals of 10 days to two weeks. The insects must be actually hit with the spray to kill them, the higher the pressure the more effective. The streams from a garden hose will help where nothing else is available, as it will wash many of the lice away.

Wheat Midge

The wheat midge or red weevil which appeared in some parts of this county last year, is beginning to make its appearance in these same areas. This insect is a small orange colored maggot, now found feeding on the developing grain, beneath the inner chaff. One of these maggots cause a grain to be shrivelled and flattened, but if several feed upon the same kernel it will likely be entirely destroyed, and will seem not to have developed any grain. About the time the wheat is harvested these insects leave the head and burrow into the ground, where they remain until the following spring. A part of them will remain in the head and appear in the threshed grain. This insect is not general, but occurs in certain localities, and is more prevalent in low or bottom lands. Some fields contain as high as 10 per cent injury.

Membership Cards.

I find only a part of the members of the Farm Bureau have put up their membership cards. This is a square of cardboard printed with water proof ink, showing that you are a member of the farm bureau. This identifies you with the progressive farmers, and shows your spirit in your own community. What is the use to have a badge without wearing it?

Program Of Work

The parts of the Farm Bureau plan of work pertaining to lime, phosphorous and silos, will be carried out during the month of July. The lime program is to sweeten all the land in a definite rotation, that is too sour to produce a satisfactory crop of legumes. No farming system can be improved without the use of legumes according to farm experts and practical and progressive farmers.

The program in regard to silos is to encourage the erection of silos, in order to increase the feeding value of corn from 29 to 33 per cent, protect the farmer against loss by frost, to insure against drought stricken pastures, provide a juicy feed thruout the winter, furnish the cheapest winter feed to aid in fattening stock, to allow the keeping of more livestock on less land, to make the silo a partner to every creamery or cheese factory patron and grower of beef or mutton.

The program in regard to phosphorus is to apply an adequate amount of 16 per cent acid phosphate to all crops in a definite rotation.

The reason for a phosphorous campaign is to get a more definite knowledge of the fertilizer situation and get the fertilizer needed without the addition of [illegible] and unprofitable materials. The reason we advocate the application of acid phosphate is that the main station at Wooster and the three branch stations, Strongsville, Germantown and Carpenter, and the Experiment Stations of Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Illinois, show that more crop return is received for a dollar invested in it, than from any other commercial fertilizer, that can be purchased. We know that bone meal is a good carrier of phosphorous, but these same Experiment stations show that only one half the crop return is received, when invested in bone meal, as when invested in acid phosphate.

Basic slag is a carrier of phosphorous but an additional amount of lime must be added and a smaller amount for the amount invested will be received.

The carrying out of this plan is in charge of the township committee and township directors and the county agent will assist them in their work.

STEAMER IS ASHORE OFF WEST ISLAND

BOSTON, MASS., June 21.—The steamer Northland of the Eastern Steamship Company went ashore early today at the entrance of Cape Cod canal on the Buzzard's bay side, according to a radio message received here.

The message added that the passengers and freight were being removed in small boats to West island. The Northland was in command of Captain Snow and was believed to have gone ashore in a dense fog. The steamer was bound for Boston from New York and was due to arrive here at 7.30 a. m.

It was later learned that the steamer struck a ledge off West island in Buzzard's bay, which is near the entrance to the Cape Cod canal. A radio message from Captain Snow said that the passengers were being taken off and sent to New Bedford, from which point they will continue their journey to Boston by train.

Captain Snow stated in his message that he believed the steamer can be floated at high tide and that the damage will be slight. The crew remained on board with a few passengers.

300,000 Maxwells; they grow better as their numbers multiply

LIKE an artist who paints a picture, or a man in business, the Maxwell improves with each day's output.

Gradual, almost invisible to the man at the forge or in the accounting office but certain as the rising of the sun, there's an improvement well nigh daily.

There have been five years of making this Maxwell better and better, and the basic design has never changed once in that time.

At one time the Maxwell was known only as a hill-climber. Again it gained attention through its work in rough country. Then it earned a reputation on economy. But gradually it became better and better spoken of for its enduring, everlasting reliability.

That kind of reliability that doesn't burn your pocketbook with repair bills, that knows no task too difficult, that never complains of old age, that gives you about as much trouble as a pair of shoes, that travels on a very small gas appetite.

300,000 of them are in use throughout the world.

In those sections of the world where few cars make good, there you will find the Maxwell—often the dominating car.

The 300,000th Maxwell is the same basic car as Maxwell No. 1. No changes in design—but many improvements.

There's no doubt it's a better car today. Nearly 300,000 of one model has its obvious effects.

SINN FEIN HEAD NOW IN AMERICA

NEW YORK, June 21.—Harry J. Boland, Sinn Fein member of parliament, declared here today that Edward De Valera, head of the Sinn Fein and socalled "president of Ireland," is in the United States.

Boland asserted that De Valera would make his appearance in New York on Monday.

Boland refused to disclose De Valera's present exact whereabouts, or told how he entered the United States. He said that De Valera is here to interest Americans in Irish affairs and to stir up sympathy for Irish independence. He said, however, that De Valera would not try to mix in American politics.

Boland reserved rooms at the Waldorf and said they will be occupied by De Valera. Boland intimated De Valera would shortly pay a visit to Rochester, N. Y., where he said he has relatives.

GERMANY STILL HAS DREAMS OF CONQUEST

(By CARL D. GROAT)

BERLIN, June 21.—Germany hasn't altogether lost her dream of military conquest. Or, perhaps, it is more accurate to say that some persons within Germany still cherish hopes for the regeneration of militarism.

A few ambitious men are anxious to have Germany build up her youth thru physical training in the schools, so that some day when the present war is well in the background and [illegible] years [illegible] Germany can [illegible] a new military machine.

To say this is a general hope would be far from the truth. The common people don't want any more war. Some of them frankly say they had enough of it the first day they were in.

And there are plenty who now say that the kaiser misled them, and that the military crowd betrayed them.

Certain it is that the liberals feel that there was much blindness about the causes of the war, and the reasons for continuing it. Germany was fed on patriotic propaganda for a long time and with successes came a lust for more victories and more territory. But, reverses and the final glimmerings of the truth as to the kaiser and militarism converted many Germans from the policies of iron and blood.

True, there was from the time of the armistice to the time of presentation of the peace terms many of the "old guard" in power. And some of these felt that there was a chance for Germany "to come back." To them, the allied peace terms proved the greatest shock, tho everywhere there was surprise that the victors' terms proved as strong as they did.

The liberals complained that Germany clung too much to the things of the past—that too many men with kaiser affiliations stayed on after the republic was formed. And, strange to say the flag of the empire up to this writing has been more in evidence than the flag of the republic.

In fact, in the demonstrations of May 18, an American here for several months, declared that he had seen the republican colors for the first time.

An example of how Germany has persisted in the things of the past is illustrated in its publicity. Here, there is still "propaganda"—and considerable figuring as to whether this or that piece of news will be favorable to Germany when it goes abroad.

The first day that this writer talked with a German official he was asked as to whether certain bits of information would be kindly received in America. And so it goes.

Many believe, however, that, after all, a new deal is about to come in Germany which shall make her more truly liberal than she has been in recent years. As for militarism nobody seriously believes that it can rear its head for years to come—if ever.

TAXATION IS BIG PROBLEM BEFORE SOLONS OF OHIO

COLUMBUS, O., June 21.—Members of the Ohio legislature had gone home today to remain until December first, when they will return to resume work on taxation legislation.

If the proposed constitutional amendment providing classification of property for taxation carries at the November election the solons will have weeks of work ahead of them when they come back deciding what kinds of property should go in the different classes.

A state income and a graduated auto tax are also on the December program.

The legislature adjourns for the summer and fall after having gained the reputation of being the most intensely partisan legislature in many years. Also the longest drawn out.

Continual fights between the Republican majorities and Governor Cox marked the five and a half months they have been in session.

Here are the high spots of legislative enactment:

Temporary financial relief for cities and school districts.

Prohibition enforcement laws without emergency clauses attached, thereby subjecting them to referendum next November.

Complete re-organization of state health machinery.

Highway legislation that will permit Ohio to secure $10,260,000 of federal aid by putting up a like sum.

Recodification of the state's banking laws.

Recodification of ditch laws.

Ratification of the nation-wide prohibition amendment.

Ratification of the national woman suffrage amendment.

The Fouts-Reynolds law permitting Ohio women to vote for presidential electors next year.

The Miller law, requiring gas companies to secure permission from the state utilities commission before cutting off service from any community.

Authorizing the building of a new institution for feeble-minded.

Purchase of a governor's mansion.

There was investigation of alleged legislative bribery that resulted in the indictment of Representative Frank Dohanty, of Cleveland. He is now awaiting trial in the Franklin-co courts.

TO INSURE U.S. BOATS

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Formation of an American "Lloyds" to insure the new American merchant marine will be completed shortly, it was learned today, when Secretary Daniels announced the retirement on June 30 of Captain E. P. Bertholf, commandant of the coast guard.

Bertholf, Daniels said will be connected in an executive capacity with the new company. It will insure cargoes and ships of the huge American merchant fleet built up during the war.

The company will be a distinctly American institution.

EXPERT TO TALK AT MEETING OF COM'TY COUNCIL

An authoritative and instructive lecture is promised the members of the Coshocton community council for the meeting to be held next Friday evening at the public library. Mr. Benjamin Seligman, New York, will talk on "The Community and the Peace Time Program."

Mr. Seligman for the past year has been engaged in war camp community service in Columbus and Camp Sherman, and has done splendid work in that branch of service. Previous to his entrance into war work he was engaged in investigating and writing on labor conditions. He is an authority on women in labor and industry.

Many of Mr. Seligman's articles and reports of investigations have appeared in "The Survey" the weekly magazine for social workers.

Mr. Seligman, who is Jewish has had personal contact with the subject he handles. He has seen labor conditions and social problems at first hand. As a speaker he is thotful and sincere. An especially good talk is promised for Friday evening.

NOEL IS HELD ON MURDER CHARGE

CLEVELAND, O., June 21.—Mrs. Gertrude Noel, 26, was shot and killed at her home today. Two hours later detectives arrested her husband, William R. Noel. He was charged with murder. Police said he denied the shooting.

Detectives say that before Mrs. Noel was shot a man fired one shot at her mother, Mrs. Mary Stoeffner, and wounded her slightly in the head.

Mrs. Soeffner was shot, police said, as she sought to protect her daughter.

BANDITS TRY BOLD HOLD-UP

LIMA, O., June 21.—Bandits attempted to hold up passenger train No. 57 on the B. & O. railroad at Creidersville about eight miles north of here, at 2:26 o'clock this morning, but were frustrated in their attempt when engineer Joseph Thompson of Lima, refused to cut loose his engine.

Despite the fact that the bandits fired a number of shots at him, Thompson stuck to his train, until No. 58, a northbound passenger, passed him. The illumination caused by the powerful headlight of the northbound train caused the bandits to quit. The train was a thru passenger express from Detroit to Cincinnati. Local express officials did not know, they said, what valuables were on the train.

Auglaize-co officials will start an investigation of the affair immediately. Officers are searching the country in an attempt to locate the bandits.

All members of the Y. W. C. O. are invited to attend the circus to be held Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the auditorium at Fairlawn Park.

COBLENZ, June 21.—General Liggett today appointed a court martial to try Robert Minor, American newspaper man charged with circulating Bolsheviki propaganda among allied troops in the Rhine districts. General Summerall will be president of the tribunal, which will begin its sittings next week.

HAGANS ARRIVES

Russel W. Hagans, son of Mrs. Jerry Wills, north Eighth-st., arrived in America Friday and is now awaiting his discharge from Camp Mills, N. Y.

Hagans has been in France with the 78th field artillery for the past 18 months. Previous to that time he was in the regular United States army for over five years.

LABOR

nine hours a day when he knows that the state law distinctly says that they shall not work more than eight hours, except in the case of emergency. This Coshocton-West Lafayette and the Tyndal road jobs are not emergencies.

"The way for the county to do," he continued, "if they only have four months in which the weather permits them to work, would be to put on two eight hour shifts and stay within the law. Do not think that I am trying to support any spontaneous strike that some few men might like to see started.

"Advantage should not be taken of the present economic condition of the country and employ men for nine hours. I am agitating an eight hour day for all laborers and workers and the laws of the state of Ohio are back of me. I have interviewed Prosecuting Attorney Lloyd S. Leech and secured a written copy of the law from him which states that eight hours shall be the limit to a working day and 48 hours the limit for a working week.

"All organized labor wants to see an eight hour day put into effect in all lines of industry. Labor will continue to agitate it until it gets it.

"Of the men on the Tyndal road and Coshocton-West Lafayette road jobs more than half are miners who have been employed while the mines are closed. Moreover the county officials and contractors are glad to get the miners for road building. In the surveyor's statement he said that out of the twenty only one or two were miners, but I know that such is not the case.

"The men could put that extra hour in at home in their gardens raising food for their families instead of working at manual labor for starvation wages. A man cannot live and support a family on $2.60 a day in times such as these. Men on the Pan Handle railroad and in Tuscarawas and other counties in this vicinity get 40 cents an hour, which is much better.

"I would like to ask this question: If the man who tries to have the state law enforced is a bolshevik, what is the man who breaks the state law by working men nine hours when he has the advantage.

"If the men were treated the way they should be, and given decent wage, people would not have to fear any such thing as bolshevism. This agitation is not a bolshevik movement, nor does it savor of bolshevism; it is merely an honest workingman's effort to see that the law is carried out and that a living wage is paid.

"Lincoln once said 'Let him who believes in slavery, try it on himself first.' I also like the quotation that appeared in the editorial published in The Tribune and Times-Age for Thursday: 'Fools speak of agitators; there is but one—injustice.'"

Mr. McCormick continued, "I have investigated for myself and know that the men on the Coshocton-West Lafayette road job started to work the other morning at ten minutes to seven and did not lay down their tools until their own time, after five o'clock. Thus they put in a working day approximately of nine hours and twenty minutes."

THEY'LL COME THRU IN TIME

PARIS, June 21.—Advices received by the American peace commission stated that at 2:00 o'clock this afternoon Herman Bauer was asked by President Ebert to form a new German cabinet.

It was further stated that 275 of the 421 members of the national assembly have signified their intention of voting for acceptance of the peace treaty.

The Democrats warned members of their party in the assembly that if they voted for acceptance they would be expelled from the party.

Hundreds of Commercial Concerns operating fleets of from 6 to over 1000 cars each, stick to Sterling Tires year after year—partly because of the quality of the tires and partly because of the Sterling Service given by all Sterling dealers.

90% of Sterling Pneumatic Tires sold in 1918 were for use on commercial vehicles. For years we have studied the needs of business cars, and the husky, sturdy strength and endurance of Sterling Tires is the result of this specialization.

Our organization is such that we come into personal contact with our customers and give them distinctly personal service.

A Sterling sale is not complete until the tire is worn out by satisfactory mileage run.

Do Your Best.

"I really knew better," says the girl worker who has misspelled a word "That was just a slip; I knew what was right all the time." If this is offered as an excuse it falls short of its purpose. In a sense, ignorance is excusable. One is not to blame for spelling a word wrong when he does not know how to spell it right, though he very likely is to blame for not knowing what is right. But if he knows and still does wrong, he is without even the poor excuse of ignorance. If you know how a thing should be done do it that way. Live up to your knowledge. And remember that carelessness is a worse fault than ignorance, and do not offer it as an excuse for our failure.

Let's Get It With War Savings Stamps

GOVERNMENT DEPENDS ON WAR STAMPS NOW

Baby Bonds Must Bear Brunt of Country's Financial Needs.

MEANS SALES MUST INCREASE

Women Start Drive In Effort to Approach Ohio's 1919 Quota.

Columbus, O.—(Special.)—Ohio will continue the War Savings Stamp campaign started during the war as a permanent part of the government's fiscal system. Following Secretary of Treasury Glass' appeal for the further sale of War Savings Stamps that the government might meet the demand made upon it for funds, State Savings Director Wolfe declares that Ohio must and will meet her quota.

Secretary Glass has announced that the government would have to borrow money to meet obligations and to get that money it would be necessary to sell more War Savings Stamps and certificates.

"This is the only national war work left for the people of Ohio and all they are asked to do is to invest their savings and surplus earnings in the world's best investment—War Savings Stamps," declares Director Wolfe.

That Ohio may approach her quota as soon as possible, women in almost every county in Ohio have begun a house to house drive in an effort to secure War Savings Stamp pledges. Dorothy Mae Barrett, state director of the women's division, has notified her workers that the government's financial situation is one that needs instant response and that the patriotic call for work is just as demanding now as during the war. Extra Special!

All Linen Table Cloths

2 by 2 Yards Square

$5.75

Just a few of these in pretty round patterns, woven in a square cloth, 2x2 yards. Very special at $5.75.

About two years ago, this store was selected to sell the celebrated "Derryvale" genuine Irish Linens, but prices have been so high, during that time, that we did not care to make contracts for very large stocks. As a result, we have not had at any one time a very representative showing of these famous Linens. Very recently, however, the Derryvale Linen Co. agreed to send us a large shipment on consignment, in order to better introduce their products to Coshocton County women. The shipment has now arrived and starting Monday, will be featured in a special Mid-Summer Sale and Display.

Having secured these goods on consignment with the privilege of returning any unsold portion (after having our sale) we quite naturally can afford to sell them on a very close profit margain. So you may come, expecting values that would be absolutely impossible under ordinary conditions. Of course you understand that our prices, now, are not low, by any means, when compared with those prevailing before the war, so we know you will not expect prices that are entirely impossible. But

We Will Guarantee Positive Savings of From 25% to 40% on the Present Market Value!

CHAUTAUQUA AT WARSAW IS SUCCESS

Warsaw community chautauqua opened Friday with a splendid bill and a large enthusiastic crowd in attendance. The season ticket sale was greatly increased Saturday, and even more will probably be taken before the season is over.

The Emerson Winters company furnished the entertainment for the afternoon number and the prelude in the evening. The afternoon lecture, "Parasites" by Andrew H. Harnly was humorous and full of good common sense and philosophy. It was greatly enjoyed by by the audience .

Saturday evening a novelty feature was rendered by Floyas, magicians and mind readers. They held the interest of the audience for over an hour with their slight of hand performances and astonishing ability in mind reading.

The Sunday schedule is an appropriate one. The Fisher-Shipp Concert company will give a program of varied classical music in the afternoon and also the prelude in the evening. "Peace and its Problems" will be the title of a lecture given by the Hon. Edmund H. Hinshaw. It will be timely in its theme.

A number of Coshocton people are going to Warsaw to attend the meetings Sunday.

WEATHER MAN IS DEFIED BY THE FEDERALS

The management of the Coshocton baseball team is determined to stage the Cambridge-Byesville game Sunday afternoon in spite of the weather man, and has announced that the game will be played if it is necessary to wait until 4:00 o'clock in case of rain.

For the last two Sunday afternoons it has rained and necessitated postponement of the games scheduled, with the result that the management is considerably in the hole financially.

Today's game will be called promptly at 2:30 by Umpire Clint Burrell, behind the bat. Payne and Norman will be in the points for Coshocton.

The road for cars to enter by way of the Pope-Gosser pottery is in good shape, and the game may be witnessed from autos.
